WELCOME TO OUR 1ST ANNUAL PRODUCTION SALE!

OUR FOCUS:

Calving ease, good maternal instinct. Growth based on a forage based diet, calves are creep fed grass only as a means of bunk breaking, shelter in a confined space, and human interaction. Temperament is very important. Any animal that displaying poor temperament characteristics is culled. Cows are expected to breed back in 45 days, calve unassisted, and raise a nice calf every year, otherwise will be culled. Healthy animals, good feet, productive females, eye pigment and longevity will help to increase your bottom line. Herd developed using Rausch Hereford genetics. Hereford Bulls on black cows utilize hybrid vigor making great baldies.

Bulls and heifers are forage raised on pasture and alfalfa. They are bunk broke to hay, cake for the last 30 to 45 days. They are walked through daily for health and temperament.
